Istom's dedication to fostering sustainable agrodevelopment and promoting excellence in agricultural education resonates deeply with my own professional ethos. As an educator, I have dedicated myself to nurturing a profound understanding of animal sciences among students while actively contributing to groundbreaking research in the field. I firmly believe that collaborative partnerships between the institutions, Istom and Agrinatura, are crucial for advancing agricultural knowledge and addressing pressing global challenges in food security, sustainability, and socio-economic development.

Throughout my career, I have demonstrated a steadfast commitment to interdisciplinary collaboration and innovative research. My research interests span a wide range of topics in animal sciences, including welfare, and sustainable breeding practices. I am particularly passionate about exploring how advancements in agricultural research can contribute to sustainable agroecological practices and socio-economic development in agricultural communities.
